

Be Back In A Moment

As I sat and watched at a party
The birthday boy was turning 40
I was so lucky to sit next to his nana
And be with people of his manner

I look at him, then into his eyes
To show him that I appreciate all the times
Then I held his hand with care
For he knew I was not scared

To touch, to look, at him this way
As his breath of life slipped away

I be back in a moment he said
For his moment of concentrating what was in his head
This spirit of him would float away
Then in a moment he was back to stay

Living trees and plants was all he requested
As we sat and watched the band played while he rested
His body was timid, but spirit was high
As w al consumed this boy's sigh

Memories of this day will stay with me
As knowing what cancer can be
This boy has now gone, pain free
And he will return from moment to moment
Through the ones who keep him in their minds OPEN.

Loving Memory of Darren
